

"I love your magazine. It actually inspired me to dig up my own corpse friend 'Bubba' to keep me company. So, yesterday, in the excruciating heat, I dragged Bubba down the second story flight of stairs from my apartment to my 1970 caddy hearse. My neighbors were a bit confused and disturbed to say the least, but anyhow I drove to a local cemetery with my best friend Courtney to take some sexy pics with my lovely rotting stiff. It would mean so much to me and my friend if we could be featured in your magazine."

Thanks – Haley (the girl with purple hair)

How could we turn down such a pretty corpse? Check out our Amateur Corpse Of The Month section. And remember to spray your corpse with Lysol once a day.

"I spend a great deal of my life hidden away in my basement, afraid to unleash my twisted mind on the world. So, thank you for letting me open up my darkness and unleash the beast inside me, so I can create corpses for everyone to see."

Anonymous

When you are tracked down by the FBI, please keep our magazine 'anonymous.' Plausible deniability.

"I believe all dark art should be expressed freely. So screw censorship and let your imagination fly, so thanks again for the opportunity to be myself. You Guys Rot!"

Tell that to prison wardens who banned Girls and Corpses Magazine from their fine upstanding inmates.

Letter To The Pope

Dear Pope –

"I know you are busy talking to God but I am writing you to see if you received the copy of Girls and Corpses Magazine we sent you. We are hoping you have a sense of humor (can you say "Hitler Youth"?) and can put in a good word with the Lord for us. We know we are going to Hell ... but at least we will have a lot of company down there with men of the cloth, such as yourself. Not just the pedophile priests of recent history but also religious leaders who tortured their way across Europe for centuries. Let's not forget the Inquisition – and what a party that was!"

With Rotting Reverence,
Corpsy

[The above letter was mailed to the Vatican. We'll keep you posted.]

"I just had the worst day and when I came home from work my friend had ordered me some back issues of Girls and Corpses as a house warming gift. It was the best and now I can take on the world! Thanks Corpsy!"

Vorhanden

We're better than Lexapro!

"Hey Corpsy, I've been wanting for some time to let you know how much I enjoy your mag. The articles are first rate, the ads are precious, the pix are works of art. As a fan of all that is horror, your mag has broken new ground. I recently bought the current issue. It's GREAT!!! I love the concept of reviving posthumous executions ... maybe there will be an online revival ... one can only hope. Humor and horror hand in hand, just like it should be. Keep up the great job. I feel your place in the wonderful world of all that is horror related is solid."

Susan "Zombie" Hunter

Thanks much Susan. We put our blood and guts into every issue for corpses like you to enjoy. Keep reading and buying and we'll keep printing until they pry the computer from my cold dead hands.

Eternally yours,
Corpsy

"You people are so disgusting! You are the reason the whole world is upside down and people have lost their values and morals!"

Emma C. Bitchh

*Dear Ms. Bitchh-
I wish we had the power to be "what's wrong with the world." Wars, cancer, murder, AIDS, water boarding, yep we did all of that and more. So is everyone who works with Girls and Corpses Magazine, from celebrities to writers to musicians to artists all immoral?! Are they what's wrong with the world to? Who are the people you perceive with values these* days? The Church? (read this issue) Our political leaders? Whose moral compass are you following? Here are some other folks who society said were immoral in their day and what was, "wrong with the world": Mark Twain, D.H. Lawrence, Dr. Seuss, Ernest Hemingway, J.D. Salinger, F. Scott Fitzgerald, George Orwell, Kurt Vonnegut, J.K. Rowling, Ray Bradbury, Stephen King, Jack London ... shall I continue? And who are you calling

"You people?!" Is that like racial discrimination against corpses?

"Mr. Rhine, you have a unique product and I believe it will go very far. Being a huge fan of horror movies gives me a greater appreciation for what you have done. Best of luck to you and all involved."

Thanks E! We're going to put together a fund to buy you a whole name.

"Your magazine in the fuckin' BOMB!!! I live in Rancho Cucamonga, California. Is there a newsstand in this area who sells your masterpiece? I looked for a place to subscribe on your site ... but did not find one. If you do not have subscriptions as of yet – will you soon? I hope so!!!!!"

Franny

We are on newsstands in the U.S. and Canada but they sell out quickly. So, encourage your newsstands to order more. Also, check with your local comic book stores, who also distribute G&C. And you can always order more issues here: <http://girlsandcorpses.com/store/>

"Your mag is one of the few I love besides Rue Morgue and Fangoria and Famous Monsters of Filmland (RIP). Corpse good. Girls GOOD!"

Gary

That puts us in pretty lofty company, Gary. We'll try to keep up our standards and hopefully top ourselves with each issue.

"Who are all these hot biatches trying to take my corpse BF? Where can I find those 'Sexy Fire Girls,' who were in your summer issue, just hanging all over my ex-boyfriend, Crispy? How can I possibly compete with Heidi and Carla? You should have seen me when I was alive but now I'm all skin and bones. My trademark ass is dust, literally. I'm a skeleton of my former self. Well, at least I still have my smile and three teeth. But I still need to know how my BF, Crispy, hooked up with those hot bimbos and what they did with his freakin' legs?? I am gonna kick some huge boobied ass when I find them! I'll take those hoes down! Get your own corpse! Crispy is MINE! I mean these tramps think they can rub their silicon yahoos all over my man's burnt bones and they don't have to answer to ME? I just want Crispy to jump my bones and play with my cranium, like he used to do."

Gina 'Skella' Boppalotta

Whoa, easy Skella, Crispy is not married and is free to date whomever he wants. And how could he resist the charms of Heidi and Carla, our summer covergirls? But don't worry; there are more corpses in the sea.

"YOUR MAGAZINE IS THE GREATEST IDEA ANYONE HAS EVER HAD, EVER!!!!!!!!!"

Outbreak

Wow! We beat the wheel, fire, the light bulb, telephone, automobile and computer. And have we even gotten one call from the Smithsonian or Pulitzer Prize committee?! NOOOOOOOOOOO!!!
